DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is a response to Applicant's Amendments and Remarks filed September 9, 2005, May 25, 2006, and December 8, 2006.

Claims 1, 3-9, and 13-16 are pending in the instant application.

Claims 1, 3-9, and 13-16 have been examined on the merits.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Response to Amendment

Applicant's Amendments and Remarks filed September 9, 2005, May 25, 2006, and December 8, 2006 are acknowledged.

Applicant's Petition under 37 CFR §1.78(a)(3) to accept a delayed claim benefit under 35 U.S.C 120 of filed copending nonprovisional application is acknowledged and has been granted.

Priority

It is noted that Applicants have been granted a petition under 37 CFR §1.78(a)(3) to accept a delayed claim benefit under 35 U.S.C 120. It is further noted that Applicants claim the benefit for this application under 35 U.S.C. 120 as a continuation in part of USSN 09/447,966, filed November 29, 1999, which claims benefit to provisional applications 60/121,730 and 60/146,564, filed February 26, 1999 and July 30, 1999, respectively, and is a continuation in part of nonprovisional application USSN

Art Unit: 1635

09/391,260, filed September 7, 1999, which is a divisional of nonprovisional application USSN 08/975,573, filed November 21, 1997, which is a continuation of USSN 08/571,536, filed December 13, 1995.

The Examiner would like to point out that the instant application claims priority to a laundry list of U.S. Provisional Applications and patented U.S. Patent Applications. First, the reference should be updated to reflect applications for patents that are abandoned. Particularly, see USSN 09/391,260, filed September 7, 1999. Second, due to the voluminous nature and number of the applications to which priority is claimed, Applicant are requested to point out with particularity where support for the instantly claimed invention may be found in one or more of the prior filed applications to which benefit is claimed, since such support is not readily apparent in the priority documents.

The later-filed application must be an application for a patent for an invention which is also disclosed in the prior application (the parent or original nonprovisional application or provisional application); the disclosure of the invention in the parent application and in the later-filed application must be sufficient to comply with the requirements of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. See Transco Products, Inc. v. Performance Contracting, Inc., 38 F.3d 551, 32 USPQ2d 1077 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

The Examiner fully acknowledges Applicant's claim for benefit, however, the instant claims have been afforded priority to November 7, 2001, which is the filing date of the instant application because support for the claims, drawn to a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal to inhibit protein expression could not be found in any application which Applicants claim priority to.

Art Unit: 1635

Applicants claim the benefit for this application under 35 U.S.C. 120 as a continuation in part of USSN 09/447,966, filed November 29, 1999, now US Patent No. 6,627,616. While Patent 6,627,616 has support for a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal, the Patent does not support a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal to inhibit protein expression. The Examiner would like to note that Patent 6,627,616 discloses that a polynucleotide can be delivered to a cell to express an exogenous nucleotide sequence, to inhibit, an endogenous nucleotide sequence (see column 6, lines 36-39), however, this disclosure does not support inhibiting protein expression as instantly claimed.

Regarding provisional applications 60/121,730 and 60/146,564, while these Applications support a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal, the inhibition of protein expression is not disclosed, neither implicitly nor explicitly.

Regarding USSNs 09/391,260, 08/975,573, and 08/571,536, none of these Applications disclose implicitly or explicitly, a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal to inhibit protein expression as instantly claimed.

In summary, support for a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal to inhibit protein expression is only found in the instant application, but not in any other application which Applicants claim priority to. Therefore, the instant application and claims have been afforded priority November 7, 2001, which is the filing date of the instant application.

Art Unit: 1635

If Applicants believe that they are entitled to an earlier priority date, the Examiner urges Applicant to specifically point where support can be found for a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal to inhibit protein expression in any other applications Applicants claim priority to.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

In the previous Office Action mailed July 27, 2005, claims 1, 3-6, 8 and 13-15 were rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kumasaka et al. (Journal of Clinical Investigation, 1996 Vol. 97:2362-2369). This rejection is maintained for the reasons of record set forth in the previous Office Action mailed July 27, 2005.

In the previous Office Action mailed July 27, 2005, claims 1, 3-6, 8, and 13-16 were rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Graham et al. (Journal of Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics, 1998 Vol. 286:447-458). This rejection is maintained for the reasons of record set forth in the previous Office Action mailed July 27, 2005.

In the previous Office Action mailed July 27, 2005, claims 1, 3, 4, 5, 7, 9, and 13-15 were rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kay et al. [U.S. Patent No. 6,107,027]. This rejection is maintained for the reasons of record set forth in the previous Office Action mailed July 27, 2005.

Response to Arguments

In response to these rejections, Applicants argue that since the Petition to claim the benefit of an earlier filing date was granted, the cited prior art is no longer prior art and should be removed as reference(s).

This argument has been fully considered, but is not found persuasive. While Applicant's Petition to claim the benefit of an earlier filing date has been granted, the instant claims have been afforded priority to November 7, 2001, which is the filing date of the instant application because support for the claims, drawn to a process for delivering a naked polynucleotide into a cell of a mammal to inhibit protein expression could not be found in any application which Applicants claim priority to. For more explanation and discussion, see the section above titled, "Priority".

In this regard, claims 1, 3-6, 8 and 13-15 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kumasaka et al. Claims 1, 3-6, 8, and 13-16 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Graham et al. And claims 1, 3, 4, 5, 7, 9, and 13-15 remain under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kay et al.

Conclusion

No claims are allowable.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1635

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
